How Was Your Honeymoon? Thoughts from 40,000 feet

I wrote this flying over the Atlantic Ocean on October 3.

At different times on our 10-day Road Scholar trip, “Hidden Treasures of Tuscany and Umbria,” and during our three days solo in Rome, I thought about how I’d answer when people asked, “How was your honeymoon?” I tried to think of specifics: a specific hill village, or meal, or conversation I particularly loved. When nothing came to mind, I realized the joy of this trip wasn’t about any specific thing I saw or ate or did. The joy of this trip was that Mike and I were on our honeymoon.

We could have been anywhere. But we were in a ridiculously beautiful part of the world, walking through hill towns on 2,000-year-old streets, seeing art that grew out of people’s deepest thoughts and feelings and imaginations that redefined what art could be. We ate food and drank wine that had been grown and made within a stone’s throw of where we were. Every night we had two-hour dinners, talking with people on our tour whom we’d just met, enjoying the kind of open-ended time that’s possible when no one has anywhere else to be but where they are. We looked up at church ceilings, and looked down alleys, and looked across valleys at olive groves and vineyards and other hill towns, and opened our mouths to forks-full of food, cups, and glasses of deliciousness ... and kept saying “Wow” – sometimes loudly and sometimes like a breath. Because there was always new beauty to take in. So much beauty to take in. And to be doing it together, to be doing it with my husband

At times, I forgot we were on our honeymoon. But then I’d see my wedding ring, or Mike’s ring, and I’d remember. When you fill out the online information for the Road Scholar program, there’s a question about whether the trip is a celebration of something. Of course I said it was for our honeymoon. At our first hotel in the village of Anghiari, we were given the best room in the joint, complete with a roof-top balcony overlooking most of the old city. The 12 other people in the group also reminded me it was our honeymoon when they congratulated us or asked us questions about “us.” They knew we were on our honeymoon because, at the welcome gathering at the beginning of the trip when each of us introduced ourselves, Mike pointed to me and said, “Last Friday, I married him.” And everybody in the group clapped ... which was pretty awesome.

To get a feel for the beauty we were surrounded by and immersed in, check out online a few of the different places we visited: Anghiari, Monterchi, Sansepolcro, Cortona, Arezzo, Spoleto, La Verna, Trevi, Gubbio, Puglia, Assisi, Orvieto – particularly Cortona and Orvieto. Not hard places to be at all!

At the end of the Road Scholar portion of our trip, we had three days on our own in Rome. The Colosseum, Roman Forum, Palatine Hills, Vatican Museums, Sistine Chapel were all walkable from our Airbnb. We couldn’t get close enough to

RLC's Current Worship Protocol: Love Your Neighbor

- * Masks are required coming into the building and in the Narthex. Folks wishing to continue wearing masks for worship are encouraged to sit in the pews on the north side of the Sanctuary; those who wish to remove their masks may sit on the south side of the Sanctuary.
- * Those who wish may stand during the opening and closing hymns and the reading of the Gospel.
- * During the passing of the peace, we suggest you wave or place your palms together under your chin in the "namaste" posture as a way to share the peace in a distanced way.
- * Individual communion elements are available to pick up inside the Sanctuary door or folks can now choose to receive communion at the front of the church from masked servers distributing individual cups for the wine/grape juice.
- * If you wish to use one of the first-floor bathrooms, please follow instructions in the bathroom about disinfecting it after your use. Only one person at a time in the restrooms.
- * Please silence cellphones.

Redeemer Raises $8,375 for CROP Walk

Connie Criswell reports that Redeemer's CROP Walk Team has raised $8,375 so far this year, ranking it 23rd in the nation among congregations. Donations will be taken for two more weeks, until Sunday, October 23. Donations may be made online or by cash or check made out to CWS/CROP. Redeemer's team webpage can be found online at <https://events.crophungerwalk.org/2022/team/redeemer-lutheran-church-2>. Besides Connie, Redeemer's walkers include Heidi Sherer, Wendy Stoica and Kathy Zwanziger.

"Many, many thanks to all those who have donated so far!"

Redeemer to Offer Active Shooter Training

On Saturday, October 22, from 10 a.m. to noon, the Columbus Police Department will offer an active shooter training here at Redeemer. Given the number of shootings in places of worship, Redeemer's Church Council is sponsoring this program so the congregation might learn some best practices about how to respond if it finds itself in an active shooter situation.

"Of course, we never want to have to face this but no one ever expects it," Pastor Dave explained. "So we want to have a plan if it does. This is open to the whole congregation. It would be good to have as many of us trained as possible."

Adult Ed Class to Offer Update on BREAD, Explore Different Ways to Put Commitment to Justice into Action

We have a special adult ed class this Sunday. It's a house meeting for our BREAD ministry. BREAD – Building Responsibility, Equality, and Dignity – is an organization made up of 44 faith communities in Columbus and Franklin County that researches concrete areas of injustice and comes up with proven policy proposals that they present to policymakers for their support and commitment. This year, these proposals address issues of environmental injustice, expanding affordable housing, reducing neighborhood violence, and finding alternatives to school suspensions so children and youth stay engaged with educational institutions. We'll talk about these proposals and share what areas of injustice we care most deeply about. We'll also explore a variety of ways you might put your passion for justice into practice with our BREAD ministry. So join us Sunday, October 16 from 11:15-12:15. If you have friends who care about justice and who might be looking for ways to feel like they're making a difference, invite them! We have people in this Ministry who aren't connected to this or any congregation. People care and want to feel like they're part of something that matters! Sue Watson and Dave Shull will facilitate our conversation.

BREAD House Meetings Set for Oct. 16, Oct. 18

Kristi Hildebrand reports that BREAD “had a very good meeting with Mayor Andrew Ginther in July. “They used a restorative approach to build bridges and have an agreement to meet periodically during the year. They hope to meet again in October to discuss BREAD’s campaigns. One of the mayor’s assistants is quite familiar with BREAD and said he’d always been impressed by the ‘solid research’ BREAD does before adopting a particular policy solution for which to advocate.”

BREAD will not take on a new problem this year so that they can focus on their current large campaigns around environment, housing and violence.

BREAD has also decided that the annual assembly this year will be a “mini-action” on Tuesday, November 15. They will be working to get other officials to attend and make commitments to further action on the campaigns. The director of public safety has committed to attend.

Here at Redeemer, there will be two house meetings: on Sunday, October 16, at 11:15 a.m. during the adult education hour at the church, hosted by Pastor Dave Shull (see article above) and Tuesday, October 18, at 6:30 p.m. at Emily and Nate Ott’s home in Gahanna. These are a great opportunity to talk about justice issues that you care about and to hear about what is going on with BREAD.

“Redeemer has been a member of BREAD for one year now. We had a great turnout for the Nehemiah Action and exceeded our attendance goal. A big thank you to the congregation for their donations to BREAD. We are pleased to announce that Redeemer has donated $1,240 to BREAD. This is a great example of living out our faith and our values!”

The next Nehemiah Action is being scheduled for Tuesday April 25, 2023 at the Celeste Center on the Ohio State Fairgrounds. Please mark your calendars now.

Once Monthly Book Study Launches Oct. 19: The Shack

A man walks into a shack and discovers a Black woman, a Middle Eastern man, and an Asian woman.

Sheryl Owens comments that while, “this may sound like the beginning of a very strange, long-winded joke, it is the premise for the book The Shack by William P. Young where the Black woman is Papa (God) the Middle Eastern man is Jesus (a carpenter) and the Asian woman is (somewhat pixelated) the Holy Spirit.

“The Shack is a nationally and internationally recognized bestseller. My question to you is, why is this book such a conversation piece and bestseller? Come to the 1st of many to come book discussions starting Wednesday October 19 at 7 p.m. at Redeemer Lutheran Church and also on Zoom.”

This is the launch of a once a month book discussion group when the group will discuss a whole book in one session. “Although Pastor Dave and I have selected the first three books, we want you to pick things you think the group would enjoy. Choose a variety of genres, fiction, non-fiction, whole books, short stories, poetry....whatever you think would make for great discussions.

Please tell your friends and neighbors about this group as we are open to all.

Sign Ups Underway for 2022 Advent Devotional Booklet

Advent will soon be upon us, and one way Redeemer has observed the season for several years has been the preparation of an Advent devotional booklet, with daily devotions for Advent written by members of the congregation. Members and friends are asked to consider writing a devotional for the booklet this year. Slots are filling fast! Individual devotions should be emailed to Mary Benis by Monday, November 7 for editing.

The list of readings which provide the basis for the devotions is posted on the bulletin board. Call the church office at 614-237-1263 and check with booklet coordinator Connie Criswell at cac56@columbus.rr.com with your selections to avoid duplications.

Monthly Food Giveaway Seeks Cleaning Supplies as 'Extra' Item

The "extra" items designated for the October giveaway are cleaning supplies such as wipes, sponges and paper towels. Items can be placed in the appropriate bin in the cloakroom. Folks very much appreciate these "extra" items, in addition to the produce, as they are not covered by food stamps.

Stewardship Drive: 'Heart to Heart ... Hand in Hand'

Laura Warren, Stewardship Team chairperson and council representative, reports that the Annual Pledge Drive theme for this year is "Heart to Heart...Hand in Hand." The drive, which kicked off with the Redeemer Lutheran Church Council and then the full congregation drive has begun early. All members of the congregation should have received a mailing including a pledge card for 2023.

The returned completed pledge cards will be blessed during the October 30 church service. Thank you for your gifts to Redeemer Lutheran Church!

Tuesday Bible Study Resumes Oct. 11

The Tuesday Bible study resumes Tuesday, October 11, when the group will continue exploring Karen Armstrong's book, The Bible: A Biography. "There's no expectation people will read this; Dave is summarizing the content of how the Bible came to be what it is, and the ways we seek to understand it today."

To join the Zoom meeting in October, go to the Zoom app and then enter the following information: Meeting ID: 891 1782 1516; Passcode: 513561. To participate via phone, call 312-626-6799. Calling All Ringers, Singers!

Have you ever considered playing in the Chime Choir? If you can read music (even just a little!), we have a place for you! Rehearsals will be on Sunday mornings, 8:45-9:30 a.m., and will start Sunday, October 16. "Come give us a try -- we are a fun bunch!"

Meanwhile, Senior Choir rehearsals have begun and Choir Director Kathy Rapp says the group practices after worship from 11:15 a.m. until noon. "I try to keep rehearsals to 45 minutes so folks can head home and get on with their day. We usually sing three times a month -- more if there are special holy days."

Providers of After-Worship Refreshments, Cookies Sought

Individuals or groups within the congregation are encouraged to sign up to provide refreshments following a worship service. It doesn't need to be elaborate: cookies, cold iced or lemonade and coffee will do. A sign up sheet is on the bulletin board next to the Library for those who might be willing to provide refreshments on upcoming Sundays.

In addition, donations of packaged cookies are also needed. If this is something you can do, just put them on the counter in the kitchen off the Narthex. Questions? Contact Jon Disbro at 614-451-3642 or at Jon.Disbro@nationwidechildrens.org.

LSS Food Pantry Needs Donations

Kathy Zwanziger reports that the LSS Food Pantry needs canned tuna, canned chicken, vegetable oil, and wrapped paper towels as well as cash donations. She reminds folks that donations can be leveraged to purchase more items for the same amount than we can on individual items. Whichever way you choose to donate, it is gratefully appreciated!

Sign Up Now to Read at Worship Services

Readers for Sunday morning services can now sign up for dates over the summer. Readers, including youth and children, are encouraged to sign up on the sheet on the bulletin board, next to the Library.

Readings are sent out the week before to give folks a chance to go through the lessons ahead of Sunday mornings. Readers of all ages are encouraged to participate.

Trevi Fountain to throw a coin over our shoulders, which guarantees a return trip to Rome. But we watched some among the hordes of others there do it. Our last meal was one of our best in Italy: a six-course Euro grocery-store creation of still-warm baguettes, pecorino cheese, fresh tomatoes, perfectly-ripe pears, and a small bottle of chianti left for us by the host of our Airbnb. (Does the wine there seem to taste better just because you're in Italy?...) We capped-off the dinner with a walk to the gelateria at the end of the street. Armed with one of the world's greatest dessert creations, we stepped out the gelateria door onto one of the many bridges over the Tiber River. We stopped part-way across. A half-moon shone out of a perfectly clear night sky. We leaned over the bridge and watched the river for a while. Then we turned, leaned against the bridge, and watched the tide of people streaming by. Even though it was 9:30 p.m. on a school night, every size, shape, color, and language – and every possible flavor of gelato – streamed by.

I thought about the song Mike and I walked in to for our wedding just two weeks earlier:

*The colors of the rainbow so pretty in the sky are also on the faces of people going by.
I see friends shaking hands, saying, "How do you do?"
They're really saying, "I love you."
I hear babies cry, I watch them grow.
They'll learn much more than I'll ever know.
And I think to myself, "What a wonderful world."
Yes, I think to myself, "What a wonderful world."*

That's how this honeymoon trip was: a series of endless invitations to open myself to the wonder and beauty of this world. And if I choose to keep the spirit of our honeymoon alive in me, then I won't need to go to anywhere else to feel it and share it. I'll see, eat, and do the wonder and beauty that's right in front of me.
